

Your Road Map to Organizational Health

©Healthmap™ is a comprehensive assessment system that analyzes your organization's health-oriented policies, practices and procedures, engendering strategies to enhance employee and organizational health. Conducted by leading experts in the field, its unique, systematic approach has been proven with major corporations and public-sector organizations. ©Healthmap™ facilitates health-focused decision-making, helps track progress over time, and ultimately improves employee productivity, wellness and satisfaction.

A healthy workplace assessment system

- A thorough analysis of key organizational health practices
- Conducted by an expert assessment team
- Actively involves key individuals within your organization
- Standardized assessment tool and scoring system

Accurate, actionable reports

- Solid, meaningful data produces insightful, practical results
- Clear and easy-to-understand format
- Compare results with "best practices" in organizational health
- Identify strengths and isolate areas of concern
- Create an organizational "health strategy"
- A critical management decision-making tool

Systematically Evaluating the Key Elements of Organizational Health

Healthy Workplace Culture

- Leadership commitment to a healthy workplace
- Conduciveness of the work environment to employee health and well being

Workplace Health Management Systems

- Policies and systems to reduce illness and injury
- Occupational health and safety programs
- Health benefits
- Attendance management
- Disability management

Workplace Health Promotion

- Health promotion planning
- Policies and programs to improve employee health
- Health services and activities

Brock University
Workplace Health Research Unit

43 Church Street, Suite 401,
St. Catharines, Ontario L2R 7E1

In partnership with:

Human Resources Development Canada
Développement des ressources humaines Canada

Careers begin here!